NO ONE SHOULD CARRY A BURDEN ALONE

Andrew Davison tells of visiting Dr Albert Schweitzer, that great humanitarian, theologian, musician, physician and missionary at his jungle hospital at Lamberene, on the banks of Ogowe River. Schweitzer was eighty-five years old at the time. One event stands out in Davidson's mind.

It was about eleven in the morning. The equatorial sun was beating down mercilessly, and a group of visitors was walking up a hill with Dr Schweitzer. Suddenly Schweitzer left the group and strode across the slope of the hill to a place where an African woman was struggling upward with a huge armload of wood for the cook fires. Davidson says he watched with both admiration and concern as the eighty-five-year old man took the entire load of wood and carried it on up the hill for the relieved woman.

When they all reached the top of the hill, one of the members of the group asked Dr Schweitzer why he did things like that, implying that in that heat and at his age he should not. Albert Schweitzer, looking right at his guests and pointing to the woman, said simply, "No one should ever have to carry a burden like that alone."
