FOR THAT I AM ESPECIALLY THANKFUL

A man named John Canuso made a deal with God. His nine year old daughter, Babe, had just been diagnosed with leukemia, and as he knelt at her bed, he swore: "You save my kid, I'll dedicate my life." God did indeed save his daughter, Babe is now 26, married and the mother of a one year old boy, a child she thought she'd never have, after all the radiation and chemotherapy.

John kept his promise. John was a builder by trade. In 1974, the year his daughter became ill, he reached into his own pocket to renovate and furnish a rundown Philadelphia home that became the first Ronald McDonald House, a place where families could stay while their youngsters were being treated at Children's Hospital. John said, "Thank you, Lord. Im glad you asked me to do something in my profession." Helping others was John's way of saying "thank you."
