I FORGIVE YOU, BROTHER!

Corrie ten Boom graphically illustrates in Tramp for the Lord how after the war she met a guard who had been her captor in the Rabensbruck concentration camp where her sister had died. He came forward after she spoke at a church in Munich, and (though he did not recognize her) said he had been one of her guards, and reached out his hand to her, asking for her forgiveness. For a moment, says Corrie, she hesitated, recalling his cruelty to her sister and those around her. Then, knowing God's warning to forgive or we cannot be forgiven (Mark 1 1:26) and yet still not feeling the ability to lift her hand towards him, she prayed silently: "Jesus help me! ... I can lift my hand. I can do that much You supply the feeling" (p. 55). And as she woodenly thrust out her hand the current of god's healing warmth flowed through her and out to the former guard. "I forgive you, brother!" she cried.
 "With all my heart." Corrie says she never has known God's love so intensely as she did then. But she knew it was not her love, for she had tried and did not have the power. "But it was the power of the Holy Spirit as recorded in Romans 5:5...because the love of God is shed abroad in our hearts by the Holy Ghost which is given us.
